

Life is a Learning Curve

How can we become aware that all life is of a most precious affair?

How to recognise life is of a most-est of preciousness?

How to undertake to learn from those of a mistaken belief that all of everyone and every single species and things unknown, unseeing belong to one enormity of a life-living mystery?

However am I to explain the meaning of a life living full of experience and dreaming?
How to completely ignore the value and worth of a life so precious and yet daily more and more war?

-----0-----

The whole of one person's life is of a mysteriousness complexity, valuable, unbelievable considerably unique to one and all.

So why destroy and or defame the value of a life and physical and mysteriously uniqueness of a mind or both the brain?

So much to become known.

So much life uncertain and often rugged as any uneven, unknown prior travel terrain.
But of that of an uneven-ness, God as mystery as a consciousness, as unknown life force, must under some form of energy, does to our own life's mystery exist.

Sure, not a religion of an institution, but of a self to self force of an energy so explicit to become our way, path or road, our own life learning curve.

-----0-----

Love is not a peculiarity, a solid form of a normal individual experience without doubt a question of who am I to be here, feel as sense, feel as an emotionally-charged expression and without a doubt to say so clearly again and again the, why am I me and supposed to be and or do?

Who is ... the most illustrious form so vigilant, particular frame physically and too psychologically and that of my own gene pool, to those of my own unique present and past, those of my own now when I no longer live and too them and so on?

Who is ...
this one and only one life in all its developing stages and why?

Why now? Why me?

Why them, my ancestral tribe I do belong and then too who oh yes who is that of a mind source, brain communication source, that of a most incredible life-living energy whom lives and through me exists too?

Who?

Who is this me, individual learning curve, entail?

Who is this of another self or me, not of a most unique being physical but of a newly acquired intelligence superior to my own life's learning and ability or extent?

The answers, purely mystery, purely me, the beneficial to all my very self available when I am aware, have time to care and in whom I too value as a source greater than of my own to become voice as a source of a most profoundness of a mysteriousness, that does in fact exist when time in a thoughtful pose, listen to with intent hear.

-----0-----

How?

How to be so ignorant with this of a most amazing enormity available and as a thought, vision or dream content?

How, when I am so blameless, shameless and arrogantly disposed?

And do I care, value or consider

I am to me, the self of a worldly and often destructively disposed world view, belief and or understanding?

How, when I do not consider my own specific data flow as invaluable but ignore?

Can I become ever more aware of my own self, frame of ingeniousness?

How to undertake change?

Simply learn, that of a life, is a learning curve, learning more, rather than to lessen that form, frame physical and too psyche, soul, self, part of a human and being's consciousness pool, cosmically attired, wired and sourced?

God-given sure, but where from?

The sky, heaven or church building, environmental, experimental or psychological?

*A*nswer:

Within you, yourself, human and physical, human and physically living energetically; human and individually sourced, form fed, understood –

the life is a learning curve and with that is the you greater form as too when birthed and born, that of a most profound form:

a type of mystical undertaking, experiencing and exploring, creatively engaging and sharing to provide a sense of worth, validity to a life ... your own and too all species seeing and unknown.

*H*owever, in the decision making of who one is, there are people who are to rely on you and of your growth in understanding of your own life journey and possible potential.

*T*hese are of a supportive and creative undertaking, consciously and in that of a worldly view to alter, adjust and inform, at a thought type level, to ensure thought as ideas, points of view are being considered, reflected and decided upon, to ensure one's own survival and survival of earth and all that of a consciousness pool, cosmically and genius-ly developed to engage, learn and value as you are too part of this enormity of dynamically charging mystery.

-----0-----

Value you, as you, not be what is not a possibility now, not ever ... but now.

-----0-----