The Bible - incomplete

The invaluable stories - incomplete.
The word made flesh so as to speak what is it about the Bible today 21st century and the Western style of life we live this way?

What is it about a Bible per say with all this warring and violent behaviour day upon day?

What is it about a Bible story of old or narrative as it is told?

What type of world back when did they hope to initially tell of for the throng or crowd then?

-----0-----

Oh how happy I am today away from that text of horror filled stories to scare one quite well away.

Oh how happy I am to now know God as the all powerful seed of me is there inside for me to conscience grow or deplete day on day.

-----0-----

Whatever is it all about this talk about a Bible that long, long ago was to tell in how to behave, live the life in each a certain type of way?

Are we able now scholarly to know what message is there in that text for us today Westernised way?

-----0-----

Tales or stories, adventures and journeys whatever in that text relays one must, at some point, die or go away, desert preferable well away to know what in a conscience what one does prefer to consider and favour more so than another way.

Tales of strength to acknowledge faith but what about today and the styles they do portray?

What about who we are, the more likely follower class?

Are we able to find that strength in us?
And what would that portray for us, the other type to know is fair and or just?

-----0-----

Oh you do have some interesting types of views in that Bible text as said then, 'the good news', but what of today with a propaganda swill and all of the latest of latest technological over kill?

Are we able to, so-called divorce, of this type of insidiousness day upon day until we believe religiously?

Are we to become just a follower all of our life or become more soundly placed and think for ourself?

What will be able to change the pace now evident everywhere going here and or there or maybe just going nowhere?

I am certainly aware that of a pandemic there will be some who do become more aware, but where in the Bible text of old did it share for us some form of relief to know now how to become more vigilant about in these type of circumstance how to then behave?

What type of information data spread has us in raptures when read?

Are we even able to know with all this type of short version of a language very few are able to immediately know text-ing here and or there without even questioning who else is being connected not so fair and just, but just causing in us to be ever vigilant about what is to happen if that language is being misinformed or unacceptable to those who rule the waves and landmasses?

-----0-----

Biblical text

whatever is in it today that can relay some form of information in how to be living here in the West day to day?

Are we even capable to convert to a newer type of language that gives another confidence that they are able to trust the word coming in that is being heard?

-----0-----

C Confidence and truth and trust.

Confidence and information of the very facts not manufactured to form in us some form of mistrust or fear or both.

Confidence about who we are and in how to behave, live and agree to disagree, to not take advantage of one who is not like us or in us believes.

Confidence to recognise when one is being told fake news or lies.

Confidence to know, in that text of old, that not all of the information is in exactitude what is being meant, but more a type of way to relay so that the data is not to be given loosely away.

Script is in the hands of the beholder to know what is being said and in that how to interpret to gain over time the best information and experiences combined.

W What is not being said, is that the Bible today is incorrect because it does not relate in ways that will inform for us to change our latest of behaving ways.

What is not a favourite best seller is that of the incomplete version of the Bible stories to be now understood to gain a more informed source within our own mind, the brain and head.

What is lacking in droves, is being able to discern what is of the best course to live and behave each day.

What is often in the Bible stories is that of a narrative that makes sense in how to live without having to share the deeper meaning or content because in the in-between layers as such there is a more mystical sense to each and every word as is the breath.

Each layer within that text allows the reader to form an opinion in regard to their own life and value in each day as to how they are to choose to live.

Each and every line in that data spread gives one a clue or two before then to re-read over and over again as if in the text there is a way over time to exact more out of every single word and line toward gaining access to a deeper cause or call; a type of valuable learning of which each can make inside their own brain a relationship with the word, the text, the mind then has of engaging for you to make clearer meaning or sense.

The above having been said, it is all about you and in how you are to live, but within that message loud and clear is the evidence that we have a far greater source or power.

A form of understanding historically, genealogically and too spiritually that we are made of more than of the flesh - And for that to become known one has to live within that mind in a more religious way - to value who they are as they are and not to concern with the outer world in terms of greater achievements to show others who you are and can become but more about who you are in the simplest of forms of loving and compassion of all and of everyone.

So wake up and read the text about who you are in your Bible of narratives and in that story, held within memory, make a choice as to how you want to be and live -

A way to acknowledge value and worth, acceptance and honour each one as yourself - valid and of worth.

-----0-----

No more no less than the value of your own life and in how to live as an honourable human being as is everyone else when given the opportunity ... to take the time and learn to accept, value each day, each and every breath and learn too to listen to the inner voice of who gives our information about the right choice.

-----0-----

Afterthought:

To be or not to be that is the Biblical question ... for today.
